

Announcement of Filing Patent Infringement Litigation

We, Hallys Corporation filed the patent infringement litigation, on August 16, 2017 against a defendant, PDT Corporation duly organized and existing in Korea, at Shenzhen Intermediate People's Court.

This was already accepted by the court and has been in the process of its trial examination.

The patent right, we, Hallys Corporation advocated in this litigation, has been already registered in China as our proprietary technologies. (Patent #: ZL201410267474.2, Expiring Date: March 26, 2012 ~ March 25, 2032.)

The inventions associated with the patent right have been applied in our glass plate processing machines.

The features of the patented technologies allow our glass processing machines (that automatically transfer thin plates including glass plates to the processing module and grind them) to flexibly change the processing table dimensions depending on the sizes of the thin glass plates to be ground, so that even a single machine can handle various sizes of thin glass plates.
